FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Taking the learning experience to the next level

AVID releases the universal AE-75 communication headset

*Middletown, Rhode Island
 July 2021*

AVID Products, a leader in mindful audio solutions and recently named one of the top 10 EdTech companies to watch by CIO Coverage, has officially announced the release of their new universal 70 Series. AVID continues to bring award-winning audio devices to education, such as their 30 and 50 Series, and the all new AE-75 headset is ready to broaden that tradition. Designed for the older student academic journey, the AE-75 is also a perfect solution for home, office, remote working, gaming and more. A sleek and durable design that delivers on sound, comfort, safety and clear communication. The need for 1:1 headsets is essential for students and educators in any learning environment. AVID’s dedication to product availability continues to result in connecting millions of students across the country. Whether in the classroom, hybrid or remote learning, this new series fully delivers on AVID’s commitment to audio solutions that offer a safe and engaging learning experience for each step of the student journey and beyond.

The AVID AE-75 universal communication headset has standard features designed to strengthen communication and listening for older students, while enhancing focus and engagement. Ear cups house 50mm speakers that deliver great bass with clear mids and highs for an immersive listening experience across a range of content. Kevlar-reinforced cable with strain relief at 3.5mm TRRS plug connection and at ear cup provide extra durability, and the adjustable noise-canceling extra flexible boom microphone provides optimal positioning with clear communication. The AE-75 delivers comfort for prolonged use with deluxe contoured ear padding designed to surround the ears and create passive noise reduction to minimize ambient sounds for increased focus, along with the padded adjustable headband for the perfect fit. Easy to clean and comes with a convenient draw string travel/storage soft touch pouch. Compatible with most devices that offer 3.5mm input and an extensive range of software.
